Market update

PORTLAND MARKET SNAPSHOT: APR 2021

Caption

This market is bananas. Inventory and rates are low, but prices and competition are high. If you're ready to sell or buy a home, I'm here to offer guidance. 📞 📧 💬

Portland lifestyle & culture

Caption

Whether you prefer to experience art in galleries, at neighborhood art walks, in local businesses, or on the street, Portland has something for you. Although international and domestic artists are well-represented, our local artists genuinely capture our hearts and minds. Here are four we love:

 April Coppini: A charcoal artist creating detailed drawings of wildlife to remind us of the importance of all creatures and their relationship to our ecosystem

 Alyson Provax: a printmaker using letterpress to examine loneliness, uncertainty, and memory

 M Prull: A multimedia artist using photography to explore transgender bodies and identities

 Jeff Sheridan: A visual artist making drawings and paintings that explore our relationship with our internal and external landscapes

Who are your fave Portland artists? We'd love an introduction to their work.

Portland neighborhoods

Caption

One of our city's best features is our system of neighborhood greenways. These quiet, low-traffic streets prioritize people walking, biking, and rolling. Our greenways feature speed bumps, protected crossings at busy roads, traffic diversions to stop cut-through traffic, street markings to show you where to ride, and signage to help you identify them. Here are a few resources to get you better acquainted with our greenways.

Portland event pick

Caption

Pedalpalooza is the ultimate way to experience Portland. This three-month festival of bikey fun offers hundreds of themed rides organized by people like you. Most rides are free and open to the public, some are family-friendly, and all are a good time. There's a hockey ride, roses and rose' ride, heritage tree ride, and even a Beverly Cleary memorial ride. Check out all of the rides on the Pedalpalooza website. Oh, the places you'll go and the people you'll see! 🚲
